

STOCK PHOTOGRAPHY BY BENJAMIN M. WEILERT

BMW PHOTO

Benjamin M. Weilert is an award-winning photographer from Colorado who finds beauty in the images that surround him. From macro-scale close ups to sweeping landscapes, Benjamin's photographs span many subjects and topics. He finds the most challenging photographs to take are often the ones he is most proud to frame and put up on his wall.

After college, he joined the photography group known as IKON (founded by himself and a few photographer friends) and was able to learn enough photography skills with an Olympus C770 point-and-shoot digital camera to move up to his first Digital Single Lens Reflex (DSLR) camera: a Nikon D7000. Using IKON events to fuel his learning, eventually he also joined the Colorado Springs Creative Photography Group (CSCPG), where he also flourished. Through IKON and CSCPG, Benjamin has entered several photographs in contests, some of which have won in such categories as "Black and White," "Landscape," and "Animal."
